

Client: Women In Property
Source: Property Week (Main)
Date: 19 September 2008
Page: 97
Circulation: 25042
Size: 162cm2
AVE: 476.28

🕒 The market in minutes

■ Hardeep Sandher gives you the lowdown on all the sectors across the region

AND FINALLY ...

The association of Women in Property was welcomed to Gosforth with hard hats and wellies on a recent visit to the north-east.

Paul Nicholson, director of Agency at Atisreal and joint agent with Knight Frank on Fordgate's 100,000 sq ft Regent Point at Gosforth, took the women, who work across the property sector, on a site tour of the eight-storey development.

The scheme is by Homestretch Properties, part of the Fordgate group, which owns a further 400,000 sq ft at the adjacent Regent Centre. Quoting rents are £20/sq ft.

'It was a good opportunity to see the building at an advanced stage,' said committee member Lisa Codling, who organised the visit. 'When completed the floorplates and views will be fantastic.'

Nearly 20 members and guests of the regional branch of WiP attended with lunch sponsored by Fordgate.

'It was a great outing for WiP,' says Codling.

