Join Women in Property North West for a celebration of our Student Awards finalists. Nine female students, studying a range of built environment disciplines, have been nominated by their universities and gone before a judging panel.

We will announce our 2022 regional winner who will then go forward to the national final at Claridge's on 20th September. This is a fantastic opportunity for employers in the property sector to meet some of the most talented students in the region.

Joining us will be Caroline Simpson, Chief Executive of Stockport Council, who will be sharing her story and giving an insight into her vision for Stockport. Stockport is experiencing a wave of positive change; a £1billion investment programme is underway regenerating the town centre into a vibrant hub for living, work and play.

Josie Mae-Richards, our 2021 regional winner, will also be joining us and discussing her experiences of the awards process.

The event will be at STOK, a former Marks and Spencer which has been newly converted to offices by Glenbrook. Refreshments will be provided.

Caroline Simpson, Chief Executive of Stockport Council
