Join us at the National Trust Scotland restoration of the Hill House, considered to be Mackintosh's domestic masterpiece. The NTS is embarking on a 10-year conservation programme, which will allow continued public access to the house, but also offer views of the Hill House that have never been seen before.

You will be treated to a guided tour and given the chance to ask questions about the Hill House Box and the National Trust for Scotland's pioneering approach to caring for this building. After the tour you will have the opportunity to network whilst enjoying light refreshments.

Please note that there will be an opportunity to car share from both Edinburgh and Glasgow. Please contact c.cockburn@smith-scott-mullan.co.uk for more details about car sharing.
